New York, March 23.—An elevator containing 15 passengers, several of whom were women, fell seven stories tonight in a Fourth avenue office building, without serious injury to any of those aboard. The car began to fall at the ninth floor, but was caught and held by the safety clutches between the second and third floors.

As most of the tenants of the building had gone, the passengers were imprisoned for an hour between floors before their calls for help were heard. Firemen then chopped a hole in the top of the car and, lowering a ladder, carried the frightened group to the landing above.

EXPECT TO FINISH EVIDENCE TODAY

Several Witnesses in Miller Divorce Case Tell Tales of Unusual Domestic Troubles—Kelsey Filmore Tells His Experience Out on the Farm.

The end seems to be in sight in the Miller divorce case, which has occupied the attention of Judge Greene in the superior court for four weeks. It is thought the evidence may be finished today and the arguments made at some time tomorrow. There remain several witnesses to be heard and it is possible that the testimony will not be finished today.

There was a short cross examination of Frank Sautter at the opening of the court Wednesday morning and William H. Pierce was next called. He is 21 and has worked for Mr. Miller on two different occasions. He recalled that on one Sunday night in 1907 Mrs. Miller was talking about immorality and Bible pictures. She finally got the pictures and said "There you are." He saw the pictures and said they were immoral, but the latter part of his answer Judge Greene ordered stricken out. Mr. Miller told her to put the book up, which she did.

On the second time he worked for Mr. Miller Mrs. Miller told him he would have to sleep with Mr. Miller. There was also trouble over some Johnnycakes and Mr. Miller left his wife into the sitting room and he threatened to put the witness out of the house. He said that while sitting on a rock where Mrs. Miller could see him that she threw a bucket of water on his head and also had swept dust in his face and shook a broom at him. Mrs. Miller said she threw the water. The first time he was there he complained because Mrs. Miller didn't make his bed, and on the second time he slept with Mr. Miller from July 5 to Nov. 27. Mr. Miller never swore or used profane language to his wife.

Edith Miller, sister-in-law of the defendant, told of being at the Miller place one day when Mrs. Miller threw water on him as he was watching the pigeons. She told him to go home and tell his mother about it.

Found Fault All the Time.
Mrs. Estelle Wheeler, sister of the defendant, testified that she visited at her brother's about four or five times. She said at one time that she had washed his own overalls. She said she never told her brother, but Mrs. Miller had intimidated that Mrs. Wheeler would tell him.

Edith Miller, sister-in-law of the defendant, told of visits to the Miller place and of statements by Mrs. Miller regarding her husband and his actions with the milk. She told of talking with Mrs. Miller and telling her she didn't believe all that she heard about the tongue. The witness has talked with Kelsey Filmore and he denied the stories. She heard Mrs. Miller order Filmore out of the house one day without a dinner. Mrs. Miller had said she could put Mr. Miller in prison for his action with the boys.

On one occasion she heard Mrs. Miller say to Filmore: "I would have had you in jail long ago if it was not for your old mother."

Kelsey Filmore Called.
As the last witness of the day Kelsey Filmore was called to the stand and testified for about three-quarters of an hour.

He denied he ever told any indecent comments or used obscene language. While riding "horseback" he was thrown off and he broke his right arm and was obliged to carry it in a sling for some time. This was just before Thanksgiving. In the January following Mrs. Miller tried to have Leslie go to bed one night at 6 o'clock, but Mr. Miller allowed him to stay up. These Gordon struck Leslie and his father told him to do it again. Gordon said "I'll kill him." Mr. Miller replied that there would be no killing there. Mrs. Miller went out and then Gordon tried to strike his father with a chair. The father took it away from him and shook him up.

"Old Brute of a Husband."
Soon after Mrs. Miller returned and said: "You'll get it now, you'll get it now; someone is coming." Let them come if they want to," said Mr. Miller. Dr. Manwarring came and asked what the matter was and what this meant. Mrs. Miller replied: "It means that I've got an old brute of a husband; he's nearly killed Gordon." Gordon said he only had a headache and when Mrs. Miller and Dr. Manwarring went up stairs, Mrs. Miller saying: "Oh, I wanted you for me."

The witness never heard Mr. Miller using any profane language that night or any time about the house.

The witness saw Mrs. Miller strike Mr. Miller twice in the face with her fist.

Put Tolerance on His Face.
The morning following the witness was washing up when Mrs. Miller came out of the pantry with a towel on her face and she dashed it in his face. He told her "If you do that again I'll smash you." "Do you dare, hit me, you were eyed monkey, you miserable wretch," was the reply of Mrs. Miller. Thereupon he struck the plate and asked her if she would have a orange. She struck the plate, knocking it out of his hand and against the stove, where it was broken, and the son, "I'll divorce you," he said to put another plate up before her.

"What did you do?" asked Attorney Hull.

"I put up another plate," replied Filmore, which caused a snicker to go around the court room. To Attorney Hull the witness said the matter only as a pleasantry, but this was ruled out.

The witness declared that Mr. Miller did not say to him after he struck Mrs. Miller, "Good enough, you have given her just what she needed," and she with that dashed at him and he would knock her down if he had to go to state prison for it.

While the direct testimony was being taken court adjourned at 4:30 o'clock until this morning at 10 o'clock. Attorney Hull said he should try to complete the testimony for the defendant this morning and Attorney Desmond and Browning thought it was so the evidence might be completed today. It is probable that the arguments will be made at the convenience of the court, as Judge Greene goes to New Haven to hold court next week.

This morning at 9 o'clock the deposition of Miss Woodward is to be taken at the courthouse.

ANNIVERSARY OF NEAL DOW'S BIRTHDAY.

Observed by Anna M. Herr Y. W. C. T. U., in Fitting Manner.

The observance of the anniversary of Gen. Neal Dow's birthday made an interesting programme on Tuesday evening for the Anna M. Herr Y. W. C. T. U. at their meeting in the Bill block. The prominent features in the life of General Dow were well brought out in a paper read by Miss Lillian Post and in the remarks of Mrs. J. Fields, L. T. L. superintendent. His Quaker parentage, his taste for athletics in his school life, and his prominence in the Portland fire department, where he was chief for a number of years, were emphasized. His love for liquor at the firemen's banquets while he was chief. He was also mayor of Portland, Me., and was a representative of his district to the legislature. He served gallantly in the civil war, where he was taken prisoner and served some time in Libby prison. After the Civil War he was in the legislature and in her remarks urged the importance of more silver medal speaking contests. The legion, however, showed a strong sentiment for a membership contest, as a means of increasing interest in the organization.

There is to be a silver medal speaking contest, with six contestants, four girls and two boys, on Friday evening in Preston chapel.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH IN HER KITCHEN.

Mrs. Lyman Edwards Found Dead, With Clothing Afire, by Her Husband.

Not until Wednesday morning was it possible to learn that Mrs. Maria Mitchell Edwards, wife of Lyman Edwards, had been burned to death late Tuesday afternoon at her home. They lived on the W. H. Moss farm, where they moved three months ago, going there from Lebanon. Mrs. Edwards was 35 years of age and a native of Grotton.

Mr. Edwards had not been out of the house a quarter of an hour when the fatality occurred. He was sitting in the kitchen and noticed smoke coming from the kitchen window and, hurrying to the house, he found it filled with smoke and his wife dead on the floor.

The smoke was so dense that at first he could not locate his wife and when he made no outcry. After the kitchen door had been open for a few seconds the smoke cleared away so that he could see her form lying on the floor.

Mr. Edwards tore the clothing from her body to prevent her from being more seriously burned, but it was too late, as she was badly burned and her hair was singed from her head. Mr. Edwards summoned assistance from the home of Allen Harvey and John Ripley, but nothing could be done, as she was dead.

Medical Examiner Stanton of Stonington visited the Edwards home Wednesday morning and viewed the remains. He attributed the cause of death to accidental burning. Dr. Stanton found that the woman had not been in her right mind for the past three or four days.

Just how her clothing caught fire is a mystery, but it is believed that a spark flew from an old fashioned wood stove. Not far from the stove was a rocking chair, which was partly destroyed by fire, and a newspaper was found beside it, also partly burned.

When Mr. Edwards went out into the yard to cut some wood he left his wife working about the house and it is possible she may have put some wood on something more inflammable on the fire which communicated to her clothing.

REFORM MOVEMENT ON IN NORTH STONINGTON.

Lafayette Main to Address Townsmen Before Special Town Meeting is Called.

On Wednesday The Bulletin received a letter from Lafayette F. Main regarding an address he is to make to the citizens of North Stonington preceding the special town meeting in the week. In his letter he writes "Saturday, December 26, 1910," but it is not believed he would have intended to deliver so far in advance, and it is probable that he meant March instead of December.

The letter is as follows:

"Lafayette F. Main says he considers it will be for the interest of all the legal voters of the town of North Stonington to be present at a general town meeting on Saturday (Dec. 26, 1910), and if they will get together at 12 o'clock he will be glad to give a lecture for the benefit of the people who must pay a 17 mill tax on a dollar. He will then explain what the meeting was called for and what benefits can be derived from the same and says he will be able to show to the people some facts to prove to them that he is working with a free good will for the benefit of the citizens of the town of North Stonington. He further says this meeting will decide whether we are working for the benefit of our children that we are bringing up to live in the town of North Stonington or not. Don't miss this chance to protect your property for your children you leave behind to fight the battle of life alone."

The meeting will be held on Saturday, Saturday, Dec. (2) 26, 1910, at 1 p. m., for the meeting. The lecture will be given between 12 and 1 o'clock.

The petitioners of the meeting, among whom are Lafayette Main, want to have auditors appointed for the town books who are not town officials or residents of the town. They would also order that the selectmen take five mills of the tax and set it aside for the reduction of the town debt.

Mr. Main expects to be there and help to lead the reform movement. One of the North Stonington voters, regarding the address that Lafayette would not be given a hearing, as it was planned to adjourn the meeting before he and his followers even knew what was doing.

WILL OF MAJOR B. P. LEARNED.

Leaves $1,000 to Peck Library and Same Amount to Park Church—Disposition of Business.

In the probate court on Wednesday Judge Ayling admitted to probate the will of Major B. P. Learned, which was made Dec. 15, 1908. As appraisers Col. C. W. Hale and Oliver T. Johnson were named. By the will Mrs. Learned is given the life use of the Broadway residence and the income of a fund of $50,000 to be paid to her by Eben Learned and W. A. Briscoe, the executors, and at her death the house and fund go to Eben Learned. To Peck Library he leaves $1,000, and to Park Congregational church is left a like amount. The income to be used for music for the choir.

To each of his daughters, Mrs. Harriet C. Howland and Mrs. Mary Learned, he left $5,000 each. The residue will be divided equally between the three children.

By a codicil dated March 2, 1907, Major Learned requested that the business of B. P. Learned & Co. be continued and bequeathed it equally to Eben Learned and his partner, Walter F. Lester.

"Look here, doctor, how much are you going to charge me for this operation?" "Oh, you've got enough to worry you now without facing that."—Life.

DELEGATIONS PRESENT. FROM R. A. COUNCIL.

Grand Officers Also Attended Meeting of Thomas Council.

Thomas council, No. 1851, Royal Arcanians, had its largest meeting of the season on Wednesday evening in Foresters' hall, having present delegations from Norwich council, No. 1851, of this city, Putnam, No. 540, and New London, No. 1434. It was the meeting of "group seven," appointed by the grand council for the initiation of any candidates that might be produced by any of the councils. Pequot, No. 443, of Stonington, and Willimantic, No. 723, were also included in the group, but had no representatives present.

Grand Regent Oscar L. Burdick of Stamford and Grand Secretary Harry Eckman of Bridgeport were the guests of honor and were welcomed by Regent James J. Casey of Thomas council, who presided. The initiation could not be carried out, as there were no candidates present, but a most enjoyable evening was passed by the 53 Arcanians present.

Both the visiting grand officers were heard from and also all the visiting regents, including E. H. Willis of Norwich council, George W. Baker of Putnam and J. B. Lamond of New London. Other guests were William Thomas Curry, under good of the order, and much enthusiasm was shown for active participation.

Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the entertainment committee, comprised of Oscar L. Burdick, John Aubrey and Chaplain James Boland.

As a prize had been offered for the country evening most officers present there was some good natured rivalry along this line. Thomas and Norwich came out even, each having thirteen votes. The grand officers of New London had eight officers, and Putnam five.

NORWICH GOLF CLUB.

Officers Re-elected—Club Grounds May Be Changed Because of Entrance to New Park.

At the annual meeting of the Norwich Golf club on Tuesday evening at the home of Willis Austin the officers were re-elected as follows: President, Willis Austin; secretary and treasurer, Martin E. Jensen; chairman of the recreation committee, M. E. Jensen, with Willis Austin and C. D. Foster the other members of the committee.

Inasmuch as the entrance to Mohegan park from Washington street will cross seven of the eight greens of the club the president of the club appointed a committee to see if it will not be possible to change the proposed road right. If not, it is probable that a new site for what will become a country club with golf links, will be selected, as $10,000 is pledged for such an organization.
